Thank You for 2018!

In 2018, we continued to serve the millions around the world who are homeless, sick, suffering, and hungry. Our work led us to the world's poorest and most vulnerable people, reaching them with life-saving assistance to alleviate their suffering and give them a chance for a life in health and dignity.

Emergency relief remained a key area of our work in 2018: We responded to two tsunamis in Indonesia, the Ebola outbreak in DR Congo, and violent conflicts in the Middle East, South Sudan, and Nigeria. We also provided transitional aid in fragile contexts like Iraq, helping vulnerable communities recover and rebuild their lives after years on the run. We are committed to bringing lasting improvements to people's lives through our development aid programs. Our ongoing efforts to strengthen national health systems in Colombia, DR Congo, Uganda, and Myanmar are part of this commitment.

2018 was a landmark year for Malteser International. Our Emergency Medical Team (EMT) was certified by the World Health Organization (WHO), allowing us to become part of the WHO's global registry for coordinated operations during emergencies like natural disasters and epidemic outbreaks. This certification means we are now able to provide medical aid to people affected in emergencies even more quickly and efficiently.

Another milestone in 2018 was gaining special consultative status with the United Nations Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC). In the face of ever-increasing humanitarian crises and a greater number of people in dire need, the special consultative status with ECOSOC brings us to the forefront of discussions around humanitarian aid issues.

These achievements would not have been possible without your help. We thank you for standing with us and ask for your continued support!

"Every cent you give today will have a lasting impact on the lives of people in our projects for many years to come."

President Malteser International

See what we accomplished together

We reached vulnerable communities in Latin America and the Caribbean:

Medical care for refugees

Food and nutrition security

Access to clean drinking water

Safe childbirth for refugee women

Emergency relief supplies of water, foodstuffs, therapeutic supplementary food, and cash aid

Ebola and cholera prevention

Employment opportunities through carbon-neutral construction

Development of national healthcare systems

Complex humanitarian situation

Armed conflicts accounted for several humanitarian crises in Africa in 2018. Millions suffered from the consequences of unrelenting violence in countries like South Sudan, Nigeria, and DR Congo: displacement, hunger, and the spread of epidemics like Ebola or cholera. Structural issues such as youth unemployment and unsustainable agriculture continued to stem the growth of many countries.

In the Middle East, our aid brought hope to populations affected by conflict and helped displaced families return home:

Healthcare services for refugees and displaced persons

Psychosocial support for women and girls suffering from the trauma of war and violence

Labor market reintegration for refugees

Reconstruction and assisted return of displaced persons in Iraq

Millions displaced by conflict

Violent conflicts in Syria and Iraq have forced millions of people away from their homes. In 2018, we provided support for displaced people within Syria and Iraq, as well as refugees in Turkey and Lebanon. In Iraq, we assisted displaced families to return to their homes.

In Asia, we responded to natural disasters and strengthened vulnerable communities:

Emergency relief after natural disasters

Healthcare for refugees and host communities

Inclusive community-based disaster risk reduction

Access to clean drinking water

Improved nutrition and employment opportunities

Action against communicable diseases

Natural disasters and protracted crises

Natural disasters continued to plague Asia in 2018; typhoons lashed the Philippines, floods ravaged communities in India and Myanmar, and two devastating tsunamis in Indonesia left a trail of destruction behind them. Protracted crises such as the Rohingya emergency in Myanmar and Bangladesh presented further challenges for humanitarian aid workers.
